At our last board meeting there was a brief discussion of the benefits of Sokol Minnesota membership relative to being a friend or supporter. It got me wondering who these friends are. I believe I saw a few hundred of them at the Band Blast on April 27 at our C.S.P.S. Hall. The event was truly a BLAST and as I looked around the attendees were mostly a new group for me. I bartended with Igor who happens to live not far from me and is originally from Moravia. I fortunately was relieved at the bar by Chuck Draheim in time to participate in the longest conga line I’ve ever been in. Sister Blanka Brichta and all of the volunteers did a fabulous job! These are the type of friends and supporters of Sokol who are willing to volunteer when asked. Maybe we need to do more asking outside our Sokol circle? We could expand our volunteer base by asking for help from some of these new faces that you might meet at a dinner or other hall event. Who knows, you might make a friend and possibly find a new Sokol member. Remember to inform your friends of events and bring them to your Hall.

Thanks to Sister Dr. Joyce Tesarek, who has been writing grants to help sustain the C.S.P.S. Hall and our programs. Last month we received two grants totaling 140,000 CK, or just over $6,100 USD, from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the Czech Republic for masonry tuck pointing and for our Czech and Slovak Festival. This shows me that the Czech government values our organization and you, our members and friends. We also had a member recently request information about naming Sokol Minnesota in her will. Perhaps I can convince her to share her story?

Czech That Film Festival is at St. Anthony Main on June 7 - 9, 2019. Jakub Šmid, young director of the film Short Cut (in Czech language: Na krátko), comes for discussion about his film on Saturday June 8, 2019.

Co-directors Sister Louise Wessinger and Sister Judy Aubrecht will be running the 22nd Czech and Slovak Cultural Day Camp Monday, June 17, to Friday, June 21. This year’s theme is Art Through the Centuries and Sports. Registration closes June 7. www.sokolmn.org/culture-camp-2019

Now is the time to register for fall Czech or Slovak language classes. Two members of Sister Blanka Brichta’s intermediate Czech class, Sister Ally Grym and Austin Palma, will be attending the český jazyk (Czech language) program in Poděbrady, Czech Republic. This is the same program that my wife Darnell and I went to last year in Dobruška, but in a new town. The scholarships are funded by the Czech Foreign Ministry and Charles’s University.

I recently read that a Česká a slovenská škola Twin Cities (Czech & Slovak School Twin Cities) student was the first recipient nationally of the Seal of Biliteracy in the Czech language. Students are awarded the Seal of Biliteracy based on evidence of achieving proficiency in English plus one or more other languages during their high school years.

I ran in races on April 27 and 28; the Get in Gear 10K and Scoops for Troops 5K. I ran the former to give me the opportunity to run and work on getting in shape, and ran the latter to run in memory of a coworker’s son who was a soldier in our military. Do something good for yourself this month and do something good for someone else.

Nazdar!

Spring Breakfast with Koláče and Craft Sales  By Megan Cahill

The spring edition of our biannual Pancake Breakfast was held on Sunday, April 14. Over 120 people were served the delicious breakfast of all-you-can eat French toast and/or pancakes, sausage, and fruit cup. When not enjoying the delicious breakfast, guests browsed the many vendor tables and had the opportunity to purchase koláče or caramel corn. Despite challenging weather (snow!) on April 11, our dedicated and much appreciated koláče bakers prepared 80 dozen koláče at the C.S.P.S. Hall. They knew many people were counting on enjoying their koláče at the Spring Breakfast. Spending much of the day preparing, baking, and wrapping each individual kolace were Chair Joan Sedlacek, Roger Green, Don and Katie Haselbauer, Doreen McKenney and Joyce Tesarek. Koláče Co-Chairs Glynis Grostephan and Arlene Hamernik packaged 25 pre-orders of koláče, selecting from the flavors of apricot, cream cheese, poppy seed, prune, and raspberry. Selling koláče and the ever-popular caramel corn, made by Bob Kostichka, were Shannon Duffy, Darla Kolb, and Patricia Slaber.

A huge thank you to all who volunteered their time in the kitchen or selling tickets to help make the event a success: Allison Berry, Dawn Bulera, Dennis Cahill, Mary Cahill, Girl Scout Troop 55398, Roger Green, Julian Harris, Ed Hamernik, Lenka Hester, Anna Hester, Colin Hester, Dennis Johnson, Lisa Johnson, Bob Kostichka, Miša Kotek, Emma Kotek, Denis Novak, Joan Sedlacek, Joyce Tesarek, Cinnamon Whaley, and Rosemary Whaley-Baisden.

A special thank you to Jean Draheim for another outstanding job arranging for the vendors. The vendors were Jean and Chuck Draheim, Marilyn Gomez, Aneta Janovskova, Gail Jensen, Debra LaValle, Doreen McKenney, Ludmila Palkova, Marketa Palkova-Resong, and the Sokol Minnesota Gift Shop.

The total sales for the breakfast, bake sale, gift shop, and vendor table rentals were $2,967; the net was $2,367. Thank you to all of our guests and volunteers for your support of Sokol Minnesota!
Band Blast  by Blanka Brichta

On April 27 the third annual Band Blast, the music-friendly fundraiser, was presented at the C.S.P.S. Hall by the Czech & Slovak School Twin Cities and Czech and Slovak Sokol Minnesota. It was a great and fun night with lively music, homemade food, a silent auction, and once again no snowstorm!

The Talking Strings, with native Czech Pavel Jany, welcomed Sokol Minnesota members and friends by playing a varied gypsy jazz repertoire with occasional traditional folk songs like Moravian Eště si já pohár vína zaplatím (One more glass of wine for me). Jim Steinworth on the piano was next. Many joined him for a sing-a-long of well-known songs.

As the evening progressed, the crowd grew and the hall buzzed even more; the bar and kitchen volunteers were hard-pressed to keep up but did a wonderful job.

The line dance mini-lesson, led by Christopher Yaeger, was eagerly awaited and didn't disappoint. The Saturday Night Fever soundtrack took everyone decades back to disco years and the dance floor filled up. Oh, the moves!

The Bad Companions followed as we all ‘traveled’ even further in time, to 50’s Rockabilly and Jitterbug dances.

The booming yet sweet sound of The Brass Messengers, the ever-popular ten-piece band, came on the stage and people danced, stomped, and jumped until the end of the night. The crowd's chants of ještě jeden, ještě jeden... (one more, one more...) didn't let Brass Messengers leave the stage, and they kindly gave two encores!

Once again, our sincere thanks to the participating bands: Talking Strings, Jim Steinworth, The Bad Companions, and The Brass Messengers for their time and fundraising support. We greatly appreciate Christopher Yeager, who returned as the emcee of the evening for the third time and promoted the Hall throughout the night. Thank you also to Miss Czech and Slovak Minnesota Queen Autumn Gare, Princess Megan Domoneske, and Junior Ambassador Alenka Jans, who joined us for the evening and helped in the fundraising efforts. The evening wouldn't have been a success without all of the countless volunteers and I am truly thankful for each and every one of you! My biggest gratitude goes to Stáňa Gerlach, whose fundraising effort stands unmatched, and Jitka Sebek, whose dedication to the cause is limitless.

And last, but not least, a very, very special thank you goes to David Hartman, who throughout all three Band Blasts was the biggest resource in helping me find musicians and running the sound.

Sokol Minnesota at the Festival of Nations  by Joyce Tesarek

The Festival of Nations, held May 2-5, 2019 at the Saint Paul RiverCentre, was a great success. Thousands of visitors were introduced to ethnic food, music and dance, shopping, and cultural exhibits representing countries from around the world. On Thursday and Friday alone, over 16,000 students visited from schools around Minnesota and nearby states. Many thousands more attended the Friday evening and Saturday and Sunday hours open to the public.

Sokol Minnesota again presented a Czech and Slovak Cultural Exhibit, with the theme this year of Christmas Holidays, and offered a selection of foods and desserts in the Cafe, featuring perničky (ginger) cookies hand-decorating demonstrations by Martina Gurgel and many assistants. Wonderful dance performances were presented by adults, teens, and children.

The Festival was a great opportunity to share Czech and Slovak culture and a fun opportunity for volunteers to enjoy each other. Volunteers helped with food preparation and serving, designing and staffing the cultural display, set up, and take down.

Dancers to Graduate  By Louise Wessinger

Two long-time members of the Taneční Mládež and Taneční Teens will be heading off to college next fall.

Chloe Elias Morse is the daughter of Debra and Steve Elias Morse. She is graduating St. Paul Academy and Summit School on June 9. In high school she has been very active. Chloe was Co-President of the Social Justice Club and also active in choir and theater. Another love of Chloe’s is photography for which she won a national award in 2018. A highlight of her high school years was her choir trip to New York City, where they sang in Carnegie Hall. Chloe, a National Merit Finalist, plans to attend college but has yet to decide where. She hopes to study something related to the humanities, such as history or English; she has particular interests in cultural development and its connection to social justice.

Chloe started dancing with the group when she was seven years old. Her favorite memories are dancing at Šibřinky and signing her name in the book of Good Children at the Svatý Mikuláš program. She has learned how important it is to do the things you love, even when you are busy, because they are the things that will bring you the most joy. She advises younger dancers to have fun because it goes by really fast. Her favorite dance is Milaveska Polka. Her brother Marius is also a group member.

Elisa Swartz is the daughter of Kari and Bryan Swartz. Elisa has been home schooled by her mother. She will graduate on May 18. Elisa is a very talented pianist. She has often played to accompany the dancers during Svatý Mikuláš programs. She also took up Nordic skiing and was "rookie of the year" in 2017. One of her favorite memories has been writing her Senior Thesis and receiving the Minnesota Music Teachers Association Challenge Award. Elisa plans to attend South Dakota School of Mines and Technology in Rapid City, where she will major in Industrial Engineering and Management.

Elisa joined the dance group when she was 3 (almost 4!). Besides learning about her Czech heritage, she looked forward to coming to dancing every week and making some of her best friends. She said the group taught her to be friends with everyone. Each year was more fun so she encourages the younger children to keep dancing, they will be glad they did. Elisa has two brothers, Everett and Erik, and a sister, Eva, who are members of the dance group. Elisa’s favorite dance is the women’s dance referred to as the flip dance. I will personally miss her help teaching the younger children in our group.

We wish both Elisa and Chloe all our best and lots of success as they begin this new chapter of their lives.

Gymnastics End of Year Celebration  By Sokol Minnesota Gym Instructors

On Tuesday, April 23, families and friends gathered to watch Sokol Minnesota gymnasts showcase what they learned throughout the year in their Sokol gymnastics classes. The celebration started with an introduction of instructors by Girls Head Coach Courtney Benson and Boys Head Coach Jason Brozovich. This year they were honored to introduce five junior instructors who are also on the competition team: Ella, Zoe, Isabelle, Claire, and Theresa. These junior instructors not only teach girls, but they also help to teach the boys class on Mondays. Sokol Minnesota sends instructors to a national instructor school hosted by American Sokol each summer, where they learn skills and progressions, apparatus terminology, Sokol history, and many other subjects.

After introductions, the exhibition started with the four to six-year old classes, Busy Bees and Tumble Bugs. Next, the seven to eight-year old girls, Acro Cats, demonstrated their new skills. Sokol Minnesota’s growing Boys Class demonstrated skills on the rings and floor. Next, the Advanced class, girls nine and up, performed, followed by the girls’ competition group. The competition group performed a special number to round out the exhibition. Trophies were awarded to gymnasts, and all were invited to partake in refreshments.

Sokol Minnesota Gymnastics offers classes for girls and boys from ages four to eighteen. During the school year, three ten-week sessions are held. We are proud of the gymnasts’ hard work and dedication. We look forward to holding classes next year. Returning gymnasts will have priority registration. Western District Gymnastics Competition  By Sokol Minnesota Gym Instructors

Sokol gymnasts and their families drove from Saint Paul, Minnesota, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Omaha, Nebraska, to attend the Western District competition this year in Crete, Nebraska on Saturday, April 13. Twelve gymnasts from Sokol Minnesota participated, with nine girls competing in the silver category and three boys competing in level four. The Minnesota gymnasts had an intra-squad meet at Hamline University in preparation for the Western District competition.

The gymnasts gathered together in the Crete hotel the night before the competition to encourage each other. During the day of the competition, Courtney Benson, the girls’ instructor, gave the gymnasts gift bags and a motivational speech. The Western District competition was a great opportunity for gymnasts to perform the skills they had been practicing all year, as well as for them to see gymnasts from other gyms performing different skills and routines.

Each gymnast went home with a medal. Sokol Minnesota gymnasts were represented on the podium for the silver category and level four for different age groups. Representing the boys, Emery took first place in level four for his age group, and Jas and Mitchell took the top two spots in level four for their age group. The girls took home several medals for the silver category, including a second place team award for junior girls. Sokol Minnesota gymnasts were complimented on their team spirit when the girls’ team stayed after their events to cheer for the boys.

Families learned more about Sokol history during the weekend events. Erin Armstrong and Mary Cahill won raffle baskets from a Western District fundraiser. After the competition, gymnasts celebrated with a pool and pizza party while parents socialized. We are very proud of our Sokol gymnasts, and we look forward to the next District Competition, which will be held in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Sokol Minnesota's newest Linden Tree  By Jitka Sebek

During the Czech & Slovak School Twin Cities Easter and spring celebration on April 20, school families and guests M.L. Kucera, John Palka, and Mark Dillon honored Sokol Minnesota's C.S.P.S. Hall's newest linden tree (Tilia cordata), the national tree of the Czech Republic and the Slovak Republic. May it grow for hundreds of peaceful years. See the Easter, Lindens, and Spring article by Jitka Sebek in the May Slovo, page 3, for more information on the celebration and linden trees.

2019-2020 Miss Czech Slovak Minnesota Pageant Royalty and Junior Ambassadors

At the 30th annual Miss Czech Slovak Minnesota Pageant on April 13 in Montgomery, Autumn Gare became Miss Czech-Slovak Minnesota Queen 2019-2020. Meghan Domonoske is Miss Czech Slovak Minnesota Princess 2019-2020.

Judges were M. L. Kucera (Honorary Consul of the Czech Republic/Minneapolis); Dave Stepan (President, Czech and Slovak Sokol Minnesota), and Eileen Tlusty (Czech Heritage Partnership, Protovin, Iowa).

The Minnesota Pageant now includes the Junior Ambassador program originally created by Deb and Arnie Ziskovski of the former Domáci, Inc.
The premier of Singin’ in the Grain: Minnesota’s Czech Story, Al Milgrom’s documentary celebrating Czech heritage in Minnesota, was on Saturday, April 6 at the Minneapolis Saint Paul International Film Festival. The event was a sellout and it was attended by several members of Sokol Minnesota. The film follows the Ed Shimota family of Veseli, in Minnesota’s Czech Country, beginning in 1974. Documenting a family and their friends and neighbors that value their bond to each other, to music, and to their Czech heritage is very touching. The segments with views of the beautiful farmland in and around Veseli were truly heartwarming. The film mixes in scenes from the C.S.P.S. Hall featuring Sokol members, including activities and interviews. It was wonderful to see the Czech and Slovak dancers, Fall Festival, children’s parties, and the celebration of the 100th anniversary of the founding of Czechoslovakia. The film addresses the question: ”What does it mean to be Czech?” In short, the answer is: faith, family, hard work, food, music, and ”good times”! It truly is a film that makes you both laugh and cry. After the screening, Ed Shimota Jr., who was 10 at the start of filming 44 years ago, gave a very gracious ”thank you” to Al and his co-director and editor, Dan Geiger. After the movie, a reception was held at Pracna on Main. Thank you to Miša Kotek for preparing the Czech flag dessert, and to everyone who brought food and beverages. A gift basket was presented to Al from Joyce Tesarek and concertina music from Jerry Minar was enjoyed by all.

New Prague Screening: Singin’ in the Grain - a Minnesota Czech Story

The line was very long at the New Prague High School on Sunday, May 5, to see Singin’ in the Grain - A Minnesota Czech Story, Al Milgrom’s documentary. The 600 tickets sold out several days before the screening. More screenings in Czech Country Minnesota are planned. Czech groups in other parts of the country from as far away as California and Texas have requested screenings.

Before the screening in New Prague, Jerry Minar, his son, and grandson performed as a concertina trio. Much of the documentary focuses on the Czech-heritage life and music of Eddie Shimota, Sr. In the film, Jerry Minar is seen in several scenes as the sound engineer and producer of Eddie Shimota, Sr.’s first record (yes, vinyl). For the Q&A after the screening, Eddie Shimota, Jr., who has followed in his father’s footsteps as a concertina band leader, interviewed Al Milgrom and Jerry Minar, talking about the 45 years that Al has spent filming this documentary.
Third Annual Czech May Day in Montgomery

On one of the sunniest and warmest days of the season, Montgomery celebrated Czech May Day on Saturday, May 4. The well-attended event included raising the May Pole, authentic Czech cuisine, bake sale, great Czech beer, music all afternoon by the Czech Area Concertina Club, classic car roll-in, Czech/Slovak heritage royalty, tug-o-wars, ribbon dancing around the May Pole, displays by the Montgomery Historical Society and the Czech Honorary Consul, and horse-drawn wagon rides.

1. This very straight log is 53 feet long; six feet of the original branches are left at the pine tree’s top with, 47 feet are de-limbed and sanded smooth.

2. A round wreath that hangs just below the six feet of original treetop is slid up the pole and attached before the pole goes up.

3. 2x4 crotched bars lift up the May Pole.

4. As the May Pole went up, the 2x4 lifter bars were moved closer and closer to the base; tightly-held long ropes helped to hold the pole steady. At the point the May Pole was vertical, you heard the spectators take deep breaths as huge wood wedges were pounded into the ground around the base to keep the pole absolutely stable. The pole remains in place until the 85th annual Kolacky Days, July 26-28.

5. The ribbon dancers were Czech and Slovak Minnesota Pageant Junior Royalty, Kolacky Day Ambassadors, Masopust King, and others in kroje who held the ribbons as Carole Kotasek (far left) and Dale Ruhland (far right) instructed the dancers how to wrap the pole by weaving in and out and around each other and the pole.

6. Woven ribbon patterns were created as dancers moved around the pole. The dancers had to retrace their steps to un-weave the ribbons before the next dance could begin.

Highlights of the Western District Semi-Annual Meeting by Mary Cahill

The Western District Semi-Annual meeting was held on Sunday, April 14. Western District President Allison Gerber, Sokol Cedar Rapids, presided. Sokol Minnesota’s delegation included Men’s Physical Director and Head Men’s instructor Jason Brozovich, Women’s Physical Director Mary Cahill, Head Women’s Instructor Courtney Benson, and Gymnastics Registration Coordinator and Class Instructor, Carissa Skrivanek.

A highlight of the meeting was re-inserting Sokol Minnesota into the Western District Slet and Competition rotation. Minnesota is now scheduled to host the District Slet and Competition in 2021. It is the same year as the National American Sokol Slet, which will be held in the Chicago area, and this hosting opportunity may be revisited because the Western District does not typically have a Slet and Competition in the same year as a National Slet. Cedar Rapids will host the Western District event in 2020, South Omaha in 2022, and Crete in 2023.

There is interest in having a Western District Skills Clinic. South Omaha and Cedar Rapids are checking on availability of their facilities for hosting this function.

Delegates voted to reimburse early bird registration fees for up to five participants from each Unit who attend and complete the National Instructor School 2019 Course at Sokol Spirit in Brookfield, Illinois. The Western District Annual meeting will be held in Des Moines, Iowa, on Saturday, September 7, 2019.
THE SLOVAK NATIONAL UPRISING: HONORING ITS 75th ANNIVERSARY

I. THE CONTEXT  By John Palka

On August 25, 2019, the C.S.P.S. Hall will see an international conference honoring the 75th anniversary of the World War II Slovak National Uprising. The Uprising is fully as important to Slovaks as the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich and the massacre at Lidice are to Czechs, but it is barely known in the West. The conference will provide an opportunity to both honor and learn about this central event in recent Slovak history.

The conference—featuring speakers (including one from Slovakia), eye witness accounts of the Uprising, a documentary film, and other special activities—will be described in the August issue of Slovo. This issue provides a brief background for, and description of, the Uprising.

Czecho-Slovakia was an early victim of World War II, sacrificed by Britain and France in their effort to stop Hitler without actually going into battle. Within months of the infamous Munich Agreement of September 30, 1938, Czecho-Slovakia was divided into two parts. Under pressure from Hitler, a collaborationist and often openly pro-Nazi government in Slovakia declared its independence on March 14th of 1939. German troops poured unopposed into Prague the very next day, March 15th. On March 16th, Hitler declared the establishment of the Protectorate of Bohemia and Moravia; the Protectorate was ruled directly from Berlin for the rest of the war.

Even at this early time, however, resistance to Hitler had already started forming. Underground cells, both in the Czech lands and in Slovakia, had started to organize. Over time, these cells carried out sabotage against the Germans; facilitated the escape of soldiers and airmen to France and England where they later formed the core of Czecho-Slovak fighting units; helped thousands of Jews escape; provided outside organizations, including the Czecho-Slovak government-in-exile in London, with invaluable intelligence about what was happening in their occupied homeland; and were central to both the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich in Prague in 1941 and the Slovak National Uprising in 1944.

Here are some distinguishing features of the Uprising. It was organized within Slovakia, not in London as was the Heydrich assassination; it involved around 100,000 armed fighters and thousands more in civilian support roles; it was staged against the Slovak government itself even more than against the Germans; it was crushed by several divisions of German troops called in by the Slovak government; and casualties are estimated to have numbered in excess of 10,000. The Slovak National Uprising is often regarded as the largest uprising against Nazi ideology to take place during World War II.

The Uprising was led by a self-declared Slovak National Council (such councils had also led the revolt of Slovaks against Hungarians in 1848, and the formal action of Slovaks in joining Czechs to form Czecho-Slovakia in 1918). This council consisted of six men. Three of the six represented the vision of a post-war democratic, independent Czechoslovak Republic in which the many inequities between Slovaks and Czechs that had been revealed during the first decades of the Republic would be eliminated. The other three represented the communist vision of a socio-economically restructured Czechoslovakia, preferably as a state within the Soviet Union. Even though their long-term visions differed profoundly, these two factions worked closely together in an effort to bring down the common enemy, the Slovak State, and to free the country from Nazi domination.

The National Council drew into its effort the commanding officers of important units of the Slovak army, infiltrated the government (for example, the governor of the National Bank systematically diverted funds for use by the Uprising), recruited tens of thousands of partisans, negotiated with the Czecho-Slovak government-in-exile in London and the Soviet government in Moscow, and more. In the early days of the Uprising, the insurgents controlled over half the territory of Slovakia. The Germans dispatched 48,000 superbly trained, equipped, and battle-hardened troops, and against such a force the ill-equipped Slovaks stood no chance. No matter how hard they fought, the territory they held shrank quickly. However, effective resistance to the German troops lasted about two months, far longer than the four days the German commanders had anticipated. Thereafter, fighting shifted primarily to the east, with major battles taking place between the Germans and invading Soviet troops.

Both the assassination of Heydrich and the Slovak National Uprising were heroic actions against horrific evil. They are widely celebrated in the Czech Republic and in Slovakia. We will be celebrating the Slovak National Uprising right here at the C.S.P.S. Hall. The Uprising was launched on August 29th, 1944. Our commemoration of it will be on Sunday, August 25, just four days shy of the exact 75th anniversary. The next issue of Slovo will contain information about this commemorative event.

To learn more about the Uprising, visit the website of the Museum of the Slovak National Uprising at www.muzeumsnp.sk. Most browsers will offer you the option to translate from Slovak into English.
Many think of typical Czech dissidents and Charter 77 signers as liberal and nonreligious, perhaps free-thinkers. In contrast, Václav Benda, a right-wing anti-communist, called himself a “conservative Catholic” or “Catholic conservative.” Charter 77, a civic document demanding human rights protections in communist Czechoslovakia, had three major groups of proponents: the leftists; secular intellectuals and artists; and Catholics and Protestants, whom Benda led. Czech Catholics protested by distributing samizdat (clandestine literature), signing a letter to the pope, and approximately 200,000 went on pilgrimage to Velehrad.

Benda’s thoughts are collected in 36 essays in The Long Night of the Watchman. The book has three sections: reflections, essays and inquiries, and reports and defenses. The Long Night of the Watchman has an excellent introduction, notes on texts, and index.

He eloquently wrote, “Totalitarian power destroys both body and soul, knowing neither exception nor pardon; it is not (like other historical governments), a mere inducement to sin and a test of human freedom, but rather a denial of this freedom and a reign of death.”

Benda’s signing of the charter was a family decision. He and his wife Kamila knew likely impacts, but according to Taylor, “They also wanted to live according to their beliefs.” Kamila was also brave, putting up with constant surveillance and harassment of her family. While her husband was in prison, she continued to make their Charles Square home one of three places in Prague where persecuted persons could come for help.

Benda believed strongly in three fundamental gifts for families and politics—fellowship, freedom, and the dignity of the individual. He sought to build structures and alliances, partnering with the Catholic Church, regional peace movements, Czech student-led movements and demonstrations, and others. He wrote in “The Parallel Polis,” originally a samizdat essay, about what is perhaps the most famous of his ideas, that new institutions parallel to then-repressive Czech social, economic, and political institutions could be created. New ones would be more responsive to human needs and could eventually replace the corrupt ones.

Václav Benda was born in Prague in 1946, earned a Ph.D. from Charles University, and served as president of the Students’ Academic Council. Refusing to join the Communist Party ended his academic career.

He wrote in his autobiography, From My Personal File, “Since the age of 18 I have been (often out of necessity rather than from choice) a student of philosophy, an assistant lecturer in philosophy, a schoolmaster, a hydrobiologist, unemployed, a student of mathematics, a mathematician with the railway, a programmer and a stoker. I have also had temporary jobs in a brewery and on a building site, as a cowherd, an assistant arts editor, a linguist, a teacher of logic and a computer expert.”

With visibility as a Charter 77 spokesman and founder of the Council for the Defense of the Unjustly Persecuted (VONS), Benda was charged in 1979 with subverting the state and jailed for four years. After the Velvet Revolution, he chaired the Christian Democratic Party. From 1991 to 1998, he served as head of the Bureau for Investigating the Crimes of Communist Party officials. In 1996 Benda was elected to the Czech Senate and served until his death in 1999 at the age of 52.

For the Montgomery Historical Society (MHS) on April 26, Marit spoke about Czech Easter and Christmas traditions. Apples can foretell the future, depending upon whether a star (good fortune) or a cross (ominous) pattern results when the apple is sliced. Minnesota Czech Slovak Queen Autumn Gare, First Princess Meghan Domonoske, and Junior Royalty Alenka Jans each sliced an apple. Jim Mladek, MHS President, verified the results: all will have good luck for the coming year.
